KIDHIRE AND BIZKID$ JOIN FORCES TO PROMOTE ENTREPRENEURSHIP FOR KIDS AND TEENS

SAN DIEGO (June 18, 2014) – KidHire, the leading provider of startup business solutions for kids and teens, is partnering with BizKid$, the popular PBS show that offers financial education and business tips for preteens. Together, they will expand the availability of business tools for young entrepreneurs.

“We are proud and honored to partner with BizKid$ to provide the knowledge and resources kids need to start their own businesses,” said KidHire Founder Erica Ghorban. “BizKid$ has spent a decade educating and promoting the value of entrepreneurship, featuring hundreds of kids on their show and encouraging young business people to take that chance.”

To increase their suite of business tools for young entrepreneurs, KidHire.com will link to the BizKid$ Business Center, giving KidHire users access to important resources for business-savvy kids and teens. These include sample business plans, spreadsheets, marketing tips and hundreds of young entrepreneur profiles. KidHire users will also have the opportunity to be featured by BizKid$ via social media and on the BizKid$ website.

KidHire is committed to helping kids and teens start their own business. Kids can choose from up to eight web templates for a variety of businesses, such as car washing/detailing, dog walking, babysitting, tutoring, snow shoveling and others. Using these tools, they can create their own websites, with custom URLs, as well as ready-made flyers. KidHire also facilitates parental monitoring, providing important tools to help kids start their own businesses and keep them safe.

“Biz Kid$ encourages the development of young entrepreneurs and we are really pleased to be able to support KidHire with their quest to give youth the tools they need to start a successful business. We are looking forward to growing our relationship with KidHire,” said Jamie Hammond, Executive Producer of BizKid$.

About KidHire
